Kelleigh Greenberg is a sophomore directing major. She has studied with Theatre Under the Stars and the Alley Theater in Houston, Texas. There she serves on the acting faculty and as assistant director for CLASS, a children's theatre training and performance company. She has directed the musical A...My Name is Alice and A.R. Gurney's Love Letters. She choreographed "Jack!" for Scotch 'n' Soda last spring.

Andy Folmer, a junior chemistry major, has been in four Scotch 'n' Soda productions, appearing as ensemble, ensemble, ensemble, and chorus. He has also been featured, mostly as a dancer, in many shows in his hometown community theater.

Brent R. Montone is a seventh-grade student at St. Bernard School in Mt. Lebanon. He is also a student at the Civic Light Opera Academy of Musical Theater and a three-year veteran of the CLO Mini Stars. Brent was seen last year in the music department's opera, Street Scene.

KristieAnne Reed is a sophomore directing major . She is a graduate of The Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera Academy, has studied at the Centre for Theatre Arts, and at Chatham College. She directed "Jack!" for Scotch 'n' Soda last year, and she was last seen on Broadway hailing a cab. She wishes to thank her father for her humor and her mother for her voice.

Andy Vaughan is a sophomore math student. Last year he appeared in Scotch 'n' Soda's retrospective revue, "Another Round."

Michael Patrick Walker is a senior Math/Computer Science Major. During his four years with Scotch'N'Soda he has acted, directed, written music, and served as the Chairman of the Board. He was last seen creating the role of Anthony Corelli in the interactive improvisational production Marry Me!

Special Thanks to Phi Kappa Theta, Kurt White, Mr. Sid Reed, Samuel Greenfield
